

ABSTRACT

An apparatus for breaking rock includes a cartridge (16) which forms an enclosure, a propellant (24) inside the enclosure, and at least one element (26) which is electrically energizable and which is made from inert material exposed to the propellant.